

Initiative

To do something, of one's own free will, because it needs to be done.